MINUTES

1. Chairman's introduction. Mr. Reed stated the objectives of the meeting and provided an overview of the President's and Judge Clark's comments on Part III, Sections D and F.
2. Part I, Part II, and Part III, Sections A-B
 - o Discussion. Mr. West requested clarification on Part I discussion of "rough strategic parity" in light of recent Presidential statements. Brief discussions of Parts II, III A-B to include the discussion papers did not reveal any interagency disagreement with the final papers.
 - o Result. The Part I discussion of "rough strategic parity" will be amended but revised language will not use the term "inferiority." With this revision, Parts I-II-III A-B were approved.
3. Part III, Section C (Regional Military Objectives)
 - o Discussion. OSD tabled 4 revisions to the Section C package: (1) an alternative first paragraph to the summary; (2) a new paragraph added to page 4, following paragraph B3; (3) alternative second tick at page 5 under "peacetime military objectives"; (4) an alternative issue paper. Each revision was discussed at length by the interagency review group.

3. Part III, Section C (continued)

- o Result. (1) Summary: It was agreed that the first paragraph would be revised to reflect coalition imperatives and theater priorities; (2) after end of meeting discussion between State and JCS, agreement was reached on specific wording for insertion of a new paragraph at page 4, paragraph B3; (3) the alternative "second tick" at page 5 would be inserted in addition to the existing "second tick"; (4) the issue paper prepared by the NSC staff would be revised to reflect concerns raised at the meeting and redistributed to all participants on April 13.

4. Part III, Section D (Nuclear Forces)

- o Discussion. Mr. Reed provided a rundown on comments made by the President, Judge Clark, and Mr. McFarlane. Based on these comments, minor revisions to the paper are required. CIA noted that they still have not received a copy of Section D and requested that they be provided a copy of the current draft.
- o Result. The interagency working group is to amend the paper. Once revised, it is anticipated that no further revision will be required.

5. Part III, Section E (Non-Nuclear Forces)

- o Discussion. LTG Gorman provided an overview of the current status of Section E and an appraisal of the direction of the paper. The ensuing discussion recognized that much work remained in order to transform the paper into an interagency product.
- o Result. JCS, as the lead agency, is to use comments that have been received from other interagency players, revise the paper, and chair an interagency working group meeting prior to April 15. An interagency review group meeting will be held to consider Sections E and G only on April 15.

6. Part III, Section F (Security Assistance)

- o Discussion. Mr. Reed provided comments received from the President, Judge Clark, and Mr. McFarlane. The discussion centered on whether it is the right time for the Administration to raise legislative proposals for basic changes to existing Security Assistance legislation. CIA also noted the DCI's view that the final paper should describe, up front, the need for more resources.
- o Result. Based upon the White House review of the paper, some minor revisions are to be made to the paper. In view of a planned April 13 meeting with the President, it was agreed that Mr. Reed should emphasize the need to enlist Presidential support and effort in securing passage of major security assistance items now before the Congress. Additionally, the Administration should now begin work on developing a coordinated and comprehensive legislative approach that would include legislative reforms so that it could be executed next year. Finally, based on the results of the April 13 meeting with the President, issue papers will probably require revision.

7. Part III, Section G (Force Integration)

- o Discussion. LTG Gorman provided an overview of the status and contents of Section G, explaining that the paper was still not ready for interagency dissemination. As of this moment, the paper contains three sections: description of the force integration challenge, a description of the requirements for integration, and a near and mid-term risk assessment. LTG Gorman also noted that it might be appropriate to add a 4th section which would place the requirements of military force integration in the context of overall national security.
- o Result. JCS, as lead agency, is to convene an interagency working group meeting prior to April 15 for initial interagency coordination of the paper.

8. Taskings

- o The NSC staff is to revise the summary, basic paper, and issue paper for Section C. Revisions are to be provided for all interagency participants on the morning of April 13 and comments received back by 2:00 p.m. The final NSC package is to be dispatched by c.o.b., April 13.
- o Interagency working groups are to meet to consider Sections E and G prior to April 15.
 - oo Revised papers are to be distributed to interagency review group members in sufficient time to allow for review prior to the Interagency Review Group meeting on April 16, 1:00-2:30 p.m., Room 305, OEOB.
- o Sections D-G will be the subject of an Interagency Review Group meeting on April 21, 1:00 p.m., Room 305, OEOB.
